Recruitment...

- Want to get into recruitment?
- Want to work closely with industry experts at the beginning of your career?
- Want a rewarding place to work with true career progression?
- Want to work in an enterprising environment that encourages autonomy?
- Want to work somewhere that rewards success?

Carry on reading, I think we could be the place for you!

Who are Regen?

To start, we are not a large corporate that frowns upon people having a life outside of work. What we are is a forward-thinking recruitment business with a deep desire and drive to be successful and deliver a leading service to everyone we work with.

Priding ourselves on our ability to build relationships, we are not sales robots bound by KPIs trying to fit the square peg in the round hole. We are people who work with people and have a lot of fun on the way.

Regen likes to challenge the status quo. We have a real passion for quality and making a difference. Recruitment has always had a stigma attached to it and we want to change that. We are not claiming to be reinventing the wheel, but things do not have to be done in the same way they have always been. At Regen we want to bring our personality as well as experience to the table.

Regen understands that recruitment is the business of 'people' and at Regen, we put people first. Our unrivalled knowledge and experience will help you build your career at whatever level you join us.
